DigiRune Studios

Small studio. Seriously good apps.

Premium mobile apps for tabletop gaming and everyday life.

Who We Are

DigiRune Studios develops and publishes mobile apps on the App Store & Google Play. The studio creates original titles for tabletop gaming and everyday use, and partners with game publishers to develop their officially licensed companion apps.

Every app is developed, published and supported in-house, from first build to long-term maintenance.

Our Founder

Will McCullough founded DigiRune Studios in 2025 to bring a higher standard of quality to tabletop and everyday apps. He leads every project and approves every release.

Will is a U.S. Marine Corps veteran who served as a Combat Engineer, Senior Drill Instructor and Close Combat Instructor-Trainer, roles that demand precision and accountability.

Will brings more than 25 years of business ownership to DigiRune Studios, including a franchise brokerage he built and led within one of the world's largest real estate brands, with more than 1,000 clients served.

How We Work

Every DigiRune Studios app is built under the Forge, our written quality standard for every release.

- Source-exact content. Licensed rules and text are reproduced exactly as the publisher wrote them.
- Independent review. Every build is reviewed independently before it is submitted to either store.
- Full device testing. Every app is tested on phones and tablets before release.
- Long-term support. Updates, customer support and store-review responses for the life of every app.

The founder makes every product decision and approves every release.
